Bio

Clients want to know, is my case worth fighting? After reviewing the facts of a case, Nicole lets clients know. Her insights are hard-fought in 12+ years of litigating business matters and achieving outcomes that improve her clients' lives. From defamation to breach of fiduciary duties to fraud, complex contract disputes, commercial real estate litigation, and all else between, Nicole tries and argues matters from both sides of the aisle, plaintiff and defendant, in federal and state courts and arbitration venues throughout the United States.

A former federal law clerk in the busiest trial court in the United States, Nicole's trial practice focuses on one thing: the success of her clients. She works with dedication, tenacity and commitment to prevail in significant business disputes that others won't try. Past successes in underdog cases of IP theft and trade secret litigation have restored claimant property to the rightful owners and defended against millions of dollars in claimed damages.

Putting the client first also means giving clients greater access to talented and skilled attorneys. Nicole is an instructor for the National Institute for Trial Advocacy (NITA), where she builds up skills of fellow litigators. She's been named a Super Lawyers Rising Star and recognized as an "Up and Coming Lawyer" and a "Compleat Lawyer" by Law Week Colorado. Nicole was also nominated "Forty Under Forty" by The Denver Business Journal.
